

DAILY BOREDOM BUSTER

Play Heads, Bodies, Tails

This game can be played by two or more people. You'll need a piece of paper and a pencil.

Out of sight of the other players, the first player draws a hat at the top of the paper and then folds the paper over so that only the hat brim is showing. The next player, without looking at the first picture, then draws a head and folds the paper over so only the neck is showing. The next player then draws the body and folds the paper so only the bottom of the waist is showing. The next player draws the legs and folds the paper again, and finally someone draws the shoes. Now unfold your drawing for the hilarious results.
